Number of Participants: 33.

Activity Description in Nutshell: The Hunger Games event was conducted on 30th January at 9:00 AM in front of CC at the Academic Building. The event spanned across three exciting rounds, each testing the participants' speed, adaptability, and skill in consuming food under unique challenges.

Round 1: Speed Eating Challenge

The first round featured 2 bread patties as the food item. Participants had to finish their portion as quickly as possible. The first 15 participants to complete the challenge successfully qualified for the next round.

Round 2: HandsFree Eating Challenge

The second round included idli with chutney and a cold drink, but with an exciting twist—participants were not allowed to touch the food items with their hands. They had to rely on creative ways to consume the food without breaking the rule. The first 5 participants who completed the challenge moved on to the final round.

Round 3: Blindfolded Feast

The final round tested not just speed but also coordination. Participants had to eat moong dal kachori with chutney and gulab jamun, but this time, they were blindfolded. The challenge made it even more thrilling, as they had to rely purely on their sense of touch and taste.

After a fierce competition, Oshan Nalawade (BE Comp) emerged as the ultimate winner of Hunger Games 2025!
